Topic: Role of Pharmacist in community health disaster in pandemic diseases

Aim: Aim-The role of pharmacist is essential in supporting the general public and patients with long term condition.

Role of Pharmacist:

- The role of community pharmacists is essential in supporting the general public and patients with long-term conditions
- Teams can provide public health support to prevent the spread of the infection and give patients advice on how to manage their condition if asymptomatic.
- While some people may develop only mild symptoms, people with chronic lung conditions as well as those with diabetes, cancer or other underlying health conditions may experience more severe symptoms such as pneumonia, severe acute respiratory syndrome, kidney failure and even death.

Responsibility of Pharmacist:

- Informing and educating public
- Counselling the patient
- Referring
- Promoting diseases.

Pharmacist and Covid-19:
Through public preventative measures advocated by WHO, the public are working together in their respective countries to 'flatten the curve'. With a near enough global lockdown there seems to be an even greater dependence on pharmacists.

COVID-19
Request to Pharmacy Customers

	Do not shake hands with others.		Do not touch your face, especially your eyes, nose, and mouth.
	Do not cough or sneeze into your hands.		Do not be in close contact with others.
	Do not use public transport.		Do not visit crowded places.
	Do not travel to other countries.		Do not travel internationally.

Conclusion: It cannot be over-emphasized that a truly effective international preparedness and response coordination mechanism cannot be managed nationally. Global cooperation, collaboration and investment are necessary to ensure a safer future.

ROLE OF PHARMACIST IN COMMUNITY HEALTH DISASTER IN PANDEMIC DISEASES

Who is a pharmacist?

A Pharmacist is a health professional dealing with formulation, dispensing and providing clinical information to patients and other healthcare professional.

In this current scenario of covid-19 pandemic, a pharmacist plays a very important role in spreading awareness and prevention.

Pharmacist should wear mask and gloves and encourage customers also to do so.

Pharmacist should encourage people to use Aarogya Setu app and make people aware about it.

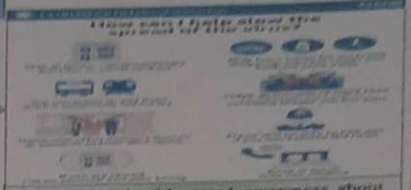

Pharmacist should tell customers to maintain social distance.

Pharmacists should counsel people regarding covid-19 and should advise patients to consult a doctor if fever and cough persists.

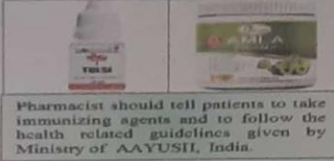

PHARMACIST

Pharmacist should spread awareness about corona virus.

Pharmacist should sanitize counters regularly and use hand sanitizer. Also advise customers to use hand sanitizers or to use soap to wash hands by rubbing hands for 20 seconds.

Pharmacist should tell patients to take immunizing agents and to follow the health related guidelines given by Ministry of AYUSH, India.

Pharmacist should dispense drugs on prescription only.
